Supporting young people with ADHD into rural work

ADHD RURAL CONNECT is the first rural education programme for young people with ADHD in Scotland. Help us, help isolated and vulnerable neurodivergent young people; by providing them with "hands on" opportunities to learn new practical skills & qualifications and develop opportunities and employability skills.

WHAT CHALLENGES DO THESE YOUNG PEOPLE FACE?

- Poor educational experience
- Weak interpersonal skills & emotional intelligence
- Friendship difficulties
- Not life prepared
- Lacking in confidence
- Impulsivity - meaning poor decision making

WHAT WILL WE DO?

- Develop and deliver an ADHD specific rural education programme.
- Deliver teacher training.
- Provide training for rural businesses.

ADHD Rural Connect will;

- Increase rural qualifications
- Improve employability skills
- Transform the young person's self-awareness & confidence
